Singing is a learned skill, ideally learnt naturally as young children in a safe, loving environment. This course gives people a chance to learn about their voices, learn about singing in tune, breath control, extending range and singing in different qualities. It is aimed at beginners and people who think they can't sing.

THE TUTORS:

Nikki Berry has been pioneering this work for many years and seeks to explode the myth of the 'non-singer'. She teaches in a wide range of musical areas and leads the exuberant world music choirs, 'A Capellago', and 'Open Song'

Gary Easterbrook is a professional musician with over 30 years' experience. He plays guitar, bass and piano and provides the musical accompaniment for the songs and exercises, as well as extra support for the men
